CONTROL YOUR WORLD. JOIN OURS.

JOIN THE LARGEST AND MOST ESTABLISHED ORGANIZATION FOR INTERIOR DESIGNERS AS AN ASID INDUSTRY PARTNER.

The single best way to market to interior designers!

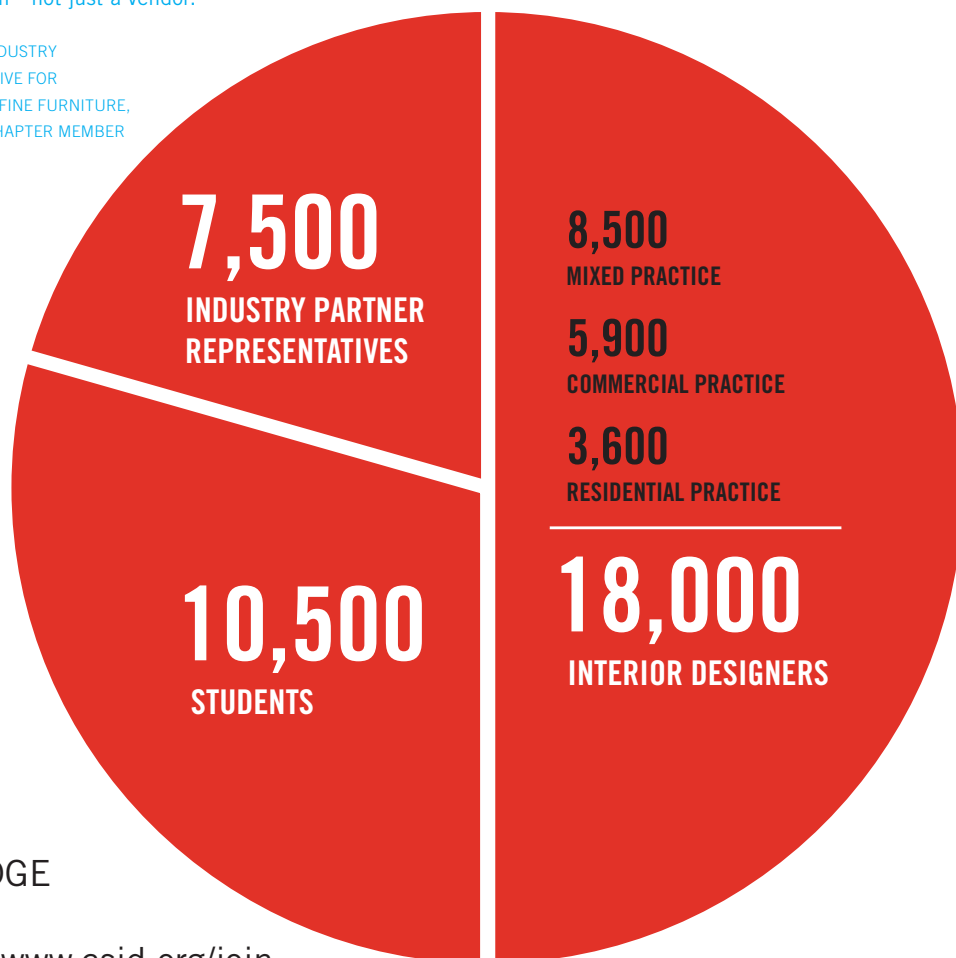

ASID is a community of people committed to interior design. Our members include practicing interior designers, interior design students, interior design educators and industry representatives.

By joining ASID as an Industry Partner member, your company will develop relationships with interior designers that will expand the specification of your product and/or service in the built environment.

“Taking an active role in ASID affords more than the standard networking opportunities. Working side by side with a designer is a balanced collaboration, with the Industry Partner on equal footing toward the same shared goal, and both sides learning something new. You’re an individual, a member of the team—not just a vendor.”

"When I first began my career in the industry, an ASID designer encouraged me to become involved in my local ASID chapter. As I started to network and get involved, I quickly became a "go to" source of information for things related to my industry and the business naturally followed. Those early connections with ASID members, along with my willingness to attend meetings, was—and still is—the foundation of my career."
