BUILD YOUR RESUMÉ

SCHOLARSHIPS

The ASID Foundation is proud to offer several annual scholarships that provide financial support to undergrad and grad students.

NCIDQ EXAM PREP BY ASID

NCIDQ Certification indicates proficiency in interior design principles. Designers who possess NCIDQ Certification have demonstrated core competencies, supported by work experience, and a college degree. They have expertise in understanding and applying current codes to protect public health, safety, and welfare.

ASID NATIONAL AWARDS

The Society's highest level of professional recognition, the ASID National Awards celebrate the people, organizations, and teams who are proving that design impacts lives. Each year, ASID honors a Student of the Year, recognizing a student who has had an outstanding impact on their chapter or community through volunteer leadership.

EXPAND YOUR NETWORK

ASID STUDENT AND PROFESSIONAL CHAPTERS

ASID student chapters are a forum to network with peers, engage in continuing education, and form social connections with industry leaders. Additionally, students are an important part of ASID Professional Chapters. Reach out to connect with your chapter to engage with local communities and fellow ASID members.

SHAPE THE FUTURE

ADVOCACY

ASID protects and advances the interior design profession by supporting legislation nationwide that establishes legal recognition for the profession, allows qualified designers to practice independently, improves the landscape for small business owners, among other things.

Stay up to date on advocacy happening in your area by texting "interior design" to 52886 or by contacting your Government and Public Affairs HQ staffer: Lauren Earley, Esq., at learley@asid.org.

NEVER STOP LEARNING

DESIGN LEARNING BY ASID

Your virtual learning hub for all your continuing education needs. Access toolkits, trainings, product information updates, sponsored content and more! Most CEUs are free to ASID members.
